Judge Kollar-Kotally,

As a member of the high tech industry for a number of years, I wish to voice my objection to the proposed final judgment in the U.S. vs. Microsoft case.

Microsoft has used its Windows operating system monopoly to bully other software and hardware companies, and every court has ruled that they have violated anti-trust laws. However, the proposed settlement allows Microsoft to retain virtually all the profits it made illegally. Microsoft would be the winner if this case resulted in business as usual, yet that is precisely what the proposed final judgment is considering. There must be assurances that Microsoft's anti-competitive activities will cease.

Respectfully,

Robert K. Chang
